

Methods of Research

Prerequisite: None

Credit Hours: (2)

This course considers principles and theories related to first language acquisition and foreign language learning. Consideration will be given to basic methods of teaching a foreign language, analyzing these methods, and investigating goals and factors of learning target languages.

The course serves as an introduction to Contrastive Linguistics, Teaching Language Skills, Discourse Analysis, and Syllabus Design courses.